account, has been found between Yunnan and Tonquin, were the only route to Western China, there might be grounds for fear that there seems no doubt that other routes could be availed of, and the likelihood is only that if one were thrown upon others would soon be called into requisition.

The steamer Gulley of Lora, arrived at Shanghai on the 17th inst., and the steamer Shanghai left that day.

A Court of Inquiry into the cause of the accident to the P. and O. steamer Malacca, will be held to-day, the 19th inst., at the Harbour-master's office.

It is stated on good authority that there will shortly be a general rendezvous of the U. S. Asiatic squadron at Shanghai, and that Admiral Smith will second the Tientsin during the fall. The despatch steamer Palos goes to Tientsin, and the gunboat Suez is to be left in Japan.

Captain Burns of the S. S. Douglas, has been presented by H. B. Chang, the Superintendent of Customs at Canton, with a handsome testimonial, in the form of a fountain pen, for his services in the destruction of the Palos, and for his services in the destruction of the Palos, and for his services in the destruction of the Palos.

Defendant denied having taken the property, but it appeared from Inspector Grey's evidence that he had been deported for five years in 1859.

His Worship sentenced him to six months imprisonment, and to the expiration to be recommended to H. E. the Governor for deportation.

on it. The man O'Boyle shot him against the pump, and the man went and took his gun to work. Deacon then came up with a wooden tray, and said to O'Boyle, "You had better not do that."

The case was then remanded to Monday, and defendant admitted to bail in his own recognisances.

PERJURY.

Lo-hay-ye, complainant in the last case, was charged with perjury, while giving his evidence.

His Worship said it was against the law that a person having been declared a false witness should give evidence, and he would fine him $20, or in one month's imprisonment.

Lo-hay-ye was charged with selling prepared opium without a licence.

Mr. Brecken was the prosecutor, and produced a witness who deposed to buying prepared opium from the accused, at ten cash the small box or keg.

A detective gave similar testimony, and the Judge ordered the accused to be committed into custody, and he found that a detective had been in the room at the time.

At the request of Mr. Brecken, the case was then remanded to this day.

THE GREAT CLAIMANT CASE

THE GREAT CLAIMANT CASE.—In today's issue the amount of the proposed settlement of the Great Claimant case is erroneously stated to be fifty crores, rupees, "our informant having fallen into error, not unusual for Englishmen, of reading a crore as £100,000." In reality the sum is estimated at over five crores, or between six millions sterling, as we previously stated. The mistake must have been due to our having copied any confusion in the original report.—Indian Statesman, Aug. 18th.
